Claims Allowed

Claims 13-18 are allowable over the prior art of record. The claims are allowable because the prior art does not anticipate nor render obvious the claimed invention of: an automated power-split multi-speed transmission, comprising at least a first, a second and a third power branch, the first power branch is connected to a first shaft, the second power branch is connected to a second shaft and the third power branch is connected to a third shaft, the first, the second and the third shafts communicate with a downstream planetary gearset, the first shaft is configured with at least a first partial transmission ratio, the second shaft is configured with at least a second partial transmission ratio and the third shaft is configured with at least a third partial transmission ratio, the first power branch has a first control element for connecting the first power branch to a power flow at the first partial transmission ratio, the second power branch has a second control element for connecting the second power branch to a power flow at the second partial transmission ratio, and the third power branch has a third control element for connecting the third power branch to a power flow at the first partial transmission ratio, and at least one of the second and third shafts of the planetary gearset interacting with an additional control element, via which the at least one of the second and third shafts can be supported in relation to a housing and a third additional control element, the third additional control element, in a closed state, blocks the planetary gearset, being arranged between the second and third shafts of the planetary gearset, the transmission having eight forward gears.

No particular single feature of the claim renders the claim as a whole patentable. Only the claim taken as a whole combination is deemed new and unobvious.
